

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A heat sink having a base structure with a protruding thermal interface having an arcuate surface adapted to contact a processor assembly. The arcuate surface is adapted to accommodate a bent configuration of the base structure induced by a mounting load applied to the base structure.